K.G. Jebsen Centre for the Law of the Sea (JCLOS)

Canada Norway Northern Innovation Initiative, Tromsø, 23 September 2014

Tore Henriksen
About JCLOS

- Established 1 September 2013
- Funded by Kristian Gerhard Jebsen Foundation and UiT the Arctic University of Norway,
- Fridtjof Nansen Institute as a consortium partner.

Purpose:

Assess how:
- Law of the Sea
- State implementation
- Stakeholders compliance

Respond to new and existing challenges
- Ensure sustainable development and utilization of marine resources

New regulation/legislative answers
Research Areas

- Fundamental Challenges for the Law of the Sea
- Maritime Boundaries & Transboundary Cooperation
- Utilization of Marine Resources
- Navigation

- Marine Environmental Protection
Network for Research

• The Centre aims to contribute towards a significant build-up and development of research in the (international) law of the sea.

• The Centre fosters interdisciplinary collaboration with other researchers in Norway and abroad.

• Some of our activities include collaboration with:

  - Netherlands Institute for the Law of the Sea
  - Dalhousie University, Canada
  - Kiel University, Germany
  - Swansea University, UK
  - Rhodes Academy for Oceans Law and Policy
Visit our web-page!

www.uit.no/lawofthesea